Revised bill may lift student club ban

BY BECKY FLETCHER
Universe Staff Writer

Like Leavitt is trying to revive the ban on gay clubs, in hopes of allowing the Salt Lake School District to lift its ban on all extracurricular clubs. Leavitt vetoed the bill, SB246, last month, questioning the legal aspects of the speech.

Rep. Craig Taylor, R-Kaysville, sponsored SB246, which forbids teachers from endorsing or promoting "illegal activity" — namely sodomy. It would be added to their private lives as well as to what they did in the classroom. Leavitt vetoed the statement that was made in SB246, but we cannot infringe on the "right" Leavitt said at the time of his veto. The governor and key lawmakers have agreed to add new provisions to the bill during the legislature's one-day special session Wednesday. The bill would come up with language all sides can agree on," Leavitt said. In discussing the measure with lawyers and school officials, Leavitt said the addition will allow school districts to ban student clubs that promote bigotry, encourage criminal behavior or involve human sexuality. The state attorney, attorney for the state Office of Education, said if the new law is passed, it was "all but certain" that the Salt Lake School District would lift its current ban on all student clubs and replace it with a ban solely on gay clubs. But not everyone agrees.

"I don't see the board changing its mind," said Sherri Clark, Salt Lake School District spokeswoman. "The board made a decision. We are moving on." "I am persuaded that in its present form the bill may have the effect of chilling free speech," Leavitt wrote in a letter explaining his veto.

New versions of the bill will target "criminal behavior" — a change supporters hope will alleviate concerns that the measure might interfere with teachers' private lives.

Utah has been consumed with the debate over gay rights, education and the nature of school clubs since late February when the Salt Lake School District disbanded all noncurricular clubs rather than allow a proposed Gay-Straight Student Alliance at East High School. Kelli Peterson, founder of the alliance, calls the proposal equivalent to discrimination.

"It's an unfair denial of students' rights to life, liberty and happiness," Peterson said. "We do not talk about having sex. We do not promote bigotry. We promote acceptance."

The Utah Attorney General's office and the state Office of Education officially have opined that under the law, school districts have no basis for forbidding specific clubs, unless they engage in illegal activities.

Taylor said that forbidding clubs based on hatred, crime or sexuality is in keeping within the school boards rights to protect the physical, emotional, psychological and moral well-being of students.

Post offices extend hours to help taxpayers

BY PAUL WALKER
Universe Staff Writer

It is commonly known that the early bird gets the worm, but in the case of the tax forms, those who wait until the last day will be rewarded for their procrastination.

It is the final day to send in tax forms, and local post offices are extending the masses of people who have waited until the last minute to do their taxes by staying open and allowing Hogi Yogi to serve free sandwiches and yogurt to those standing in line.

It will be the fifth year that Hogi Yogi will provide free food to the taxpayers standing in line at the Salt Lake City, Orem and Provo post offices, an idea that has gotten good publicity.

"I think this is a great way to serve ourselves to the community," said Clayton, vice president of Hogi Corp. "People are usually stressed while they stand in line. They see something free, it changes their outlook on the day and they see Hogi Yogi as something more than just a mascot."

Wheeler, customer service manager at the American Fork office, said after regular closing time on Monday the lines are always out to the curb.

It is quite busy, and the place is always a sight to see.

The Salt Lake City office will be collecting and selling stamps until 10 p.m. on Monday. The Orem post office will be open until midnight but will not be selling stamps at 8 p.m. The Provo post office will close at 9 p.m.

Flight turns tragic; 7-year-old pilot dies

Associated Press

CHEYENNE, Wyo. — A 7-year-old girl who became the youngest person to fly cross-country was killed Thursday when her small plane crashed to the ground "like a dart" soon after takeoff in driving rain and snow. Her father and flight instructor also died.

Lloyd Dubroff, who used a red booster seat and so her legs could reach the control pedals, her mother by telephone even as she started the engine on the runway.

Her father said she heard no word of warning as the three began to take off and ended in a crash.

People to let children fly if they want to, said a 7-year-old boy said before flying from Wyoming to claim her daughter's body.

Youngsters have to be at least 16 to solo at the controls of an airplane. But children of any age can fly alongside a licensed pilot, who may let them operate the controls if he feels it is safe.

Johnson, whose office is about a half-block from the crash site, said he spotted the plane shortly after takeoff and it appeared the pilot was trying to return to the airport. He said the plane never got higher than 400 feet.

"It stalled over my building, winged over and went straight into the ground like a dart," he said.

Hours after the crash, the Federal Aviation Administration said it would review rules that govern when a pilot can allow an unlicensed passenger to fly the plane.

Youngsters have to be at least 16 to solo at the controls of an airplane. But children of any age can fly alongside a licensed pilot, who may let them operate the controls if he feels it is safe.

came to a rest just 25 feet from one home's garage. "I kept thinking, 'Please! Please get some altitude!'" said Tom Johnson, a 15-year pilot who saw the plane fall. "It just went right into the ground. I knew no one survived. It would have been impossible."

Shortly before takeoff, Jessica told a reporter ... she thought about one thing when flying: crashing. But she said she did not worry about it.

Shortly before takeoff, Jessica told a reporter for Cheyenne television station KKTU she thought about one thing when flying: crashing. But she said she did not worry about it.

Jessica lived with her mother in Pescadero, Calif. Lloyd Dubroff lived with his second wife in San Mateo.

On Tuesday, Lloyd Dubroff said he was inspired by another young girl's cross-country flight several years ago, and when Jessica expressed an interest in flying a year ago, he asked her if she would like to try such a flight. She agreed. "I'm the culprit," Dubroff said.

After landing in Cheyenne late Wednesday, Jessica was excited. "It's been a long day," she said. "I enjoyed it. I can't wait until the next day. I can't wait to sleep. I had two hours of sleep last night."

The plane took off at 8:25 a.m. — just minutes after a thunderstorm hit the area, accompanied by heavy rain, snow and winds gusting to 32 mph.

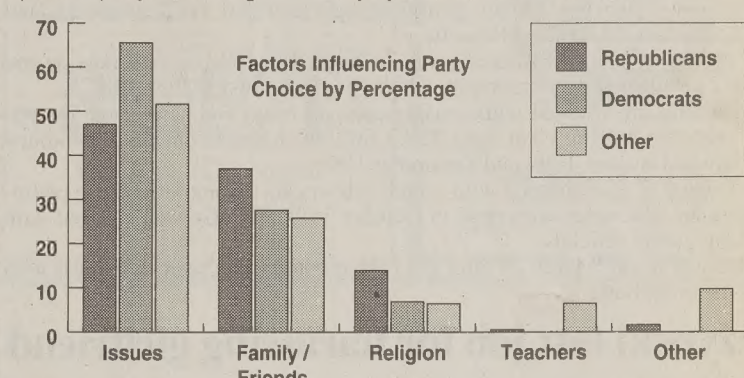

Surface visibility was about five miles and the temperature was 38 degrees, "right on the edge of icing being a problem," said Cheyenne Airport Manager Jerry Olson.

Olson said he did not know whether flight controllers had given the plane clearance to take off, but he said there are apparently no regulations that would have allowed them to keep the girl on the ground.

Issues influence party choice most

BYU students say that issues are the most important factor in choosing a political party, according to a survey by Statistics 334 students.

Less than half of Y students to vote for Dole, survey says

By JEANETTE BENNETT

More than 87 percent of BYU students identified the Republican Party as most closely representing their views, while only 61 percent have decided to vote for a Republican for president this year, according to a survey completed by a Statistics 334 class.

Bob Dole was the front-runner candidate with 43.2 percent of the students planning to vote for him, while Clinton was ranked a distant second place with 10 percent. Almost one-fourth of the respondents felt there was not a deserving candidate or that they did not know enough about the candidates to make a decision.

The survey was conducted throughout the semester, so former candidates received some of the percentage. Pat Buchanan and Steve Forbes were each favored by 6.4 percent of the respondents. Lamar Alexander claimed 2.6 percent of the vote, while 2.4 percent said they will vote for whomever is on the Republican ticket.

Perry Smith, president of the Dittohead Club, believes the trend of Republican students not being sure who to vote for or voting for Democrats is reflective of Bob Dole and not the Republican Party in general.

"BYU Republicans consider themselves more compassionate Republicans. They might look at Bob Dole as not being as compassionate as Bill Clinton," Smith said.

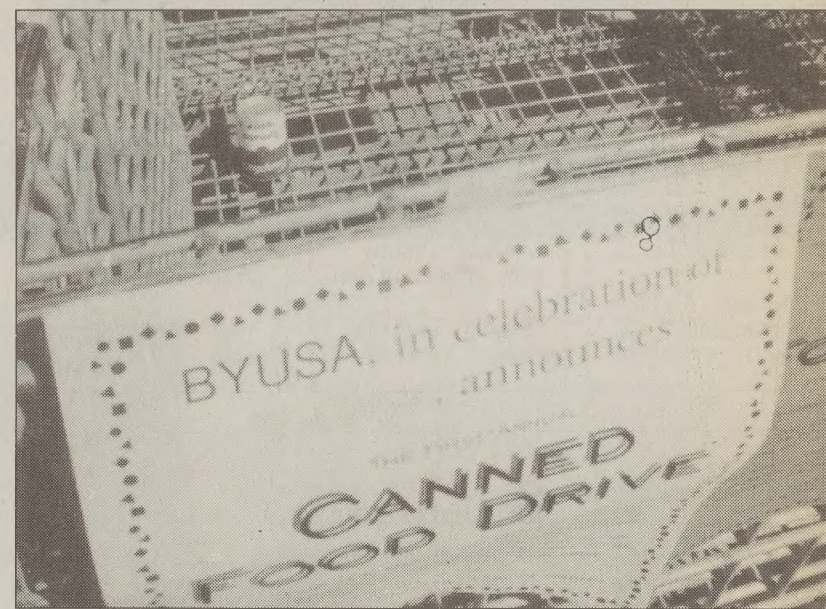

Richard Davis, associate professor of political science at BYU, agreed.

"There's not a lot of excitement or enthusiasm for Bob Dole," Davis said.

The survey revealed that there is enthusiasm for the Republican Party, however, and Davis was not surprised.

"People here focus on a couple of issues. Abortion is one. Republicans have also stressed family values over the past few elections, and that has helped them to get the Mormon vote," Davis said. "It is also socioeconomic. Most students who are here are LDS and middle class. They come from

Community service, dancing to wrap up Y-days celebration

By NOELLE BARKER
Universe Staff Writer

A full day of activities will take place Saturday, bringing the commemorative "Love All, Serve All" Y-days to a close. BYU students are invited to give time serving in local communities, after which they can spend the evening dancing.

The main focus of Y-days is to celebrate the spirit of BYU by giving back to the university what the university has given to its students. Students and alumni will make their contribution this Saturday assisting the elderly and disabled doing household chores and yardwork.

Others will clean up parks, cemeteries and elementary schools. Some will assist the forest service in restoring nature.

BYU students and members of the community who would like to participate in one of the dozens of service projects Saturday afternoon can also enjoy a free breakfast and morningside talk by Elder Vaughn J. Featherstone of the First Quorum of the Seventy of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Service volunteers will meet at the Caroline Hemenway Harman Continuing Education Building where they will be assigned to specific projects. The free breakfast will be served at 9 a.m. followed by the morningside at 10 a.m. The service projects will be assigned at 11 a.m.

The BYU community is teaming up with more than 50 chapters of BYU alumni, for the first time in the 80-year history of Y-days, to serve people across the nation, according to Universe Services.

Saturday evening, Y-days will come to a close with three dances in the local community. For $10, a couple can attend a dance in the ELWC Ballroom at 7:30 p.m., or a couple can go to dances either at the Chillon Reception Center in Spanish Fork or at Seven Peaks Resort in Provo for $14. Tickets are available at the Varsity Theater Ticket Office from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Dole says Clinton's abortion veto 'extremist'

WASHINGTON — Sen. Bob Dole's placement of President Clinton on the "extremist fringe" for his veto of an anti-abortion bill sharpens battle lines for the 1996 presidential election. But for all the strong rhetoric from both sides, polls show a majority of American voters don't want a ban on abortion.

Dole's sharp comments, made after Clinton vetoed legislation Wednesday to ban partial-birth abortions, could make it harder for him to win support from the political center as he moves beyond the GOP primaries into the general-election campaign.

Dole's point was that the bill, which would ban a seldom-used late-term procedure, had considerable bipartisan support in Congress — even if not enough to override a veto.

Clinton contended the procedure was sometimes necessary to protect a woman's health or save her life.

Surrender ends the freedom of 2 Freeman

JORDAN, Mont. — Two of the Freeman sought on charges by the FBI surrendered Thursday, driving a pickup truck out of the compound and turning themselves in to the FBI.

U.S. Attorney Sherry Matteucci identified them as Ebert W. Stanton, 23, and Agnes B. Stanton, 52, both of Brusett.

News reporters saw them taken away in handcuffs from a road outside the Freeman's heavily armed compound, which they call "Justus Township."

Both Stantons are charged with conspiracy, mail fraud and bank fraud in connection with the writing of at least $19.5 million in bogus checks and money orders between August 1994 and December 1995.

Ebert Stanton is also charged with armed robbery for taking $66,000 in equipment from an ABC television crew in October 1995. He also was charged with threatening public officials.

The standoff began March 25 after the FBI arrested two Freeman leaders who had left the compound.

Kaczynski lost job for harassing girlfriend

WASHINGTON — Within months of the first Unabomb explosion in a Chicago suburb, Theodore Kaczynski was fired by his brother, David Kaczynski, for harassing a female supervisor at a factory where they worked in a different suburb, sources close to the investigation say.

FBI agents followed up the story of the brief, failed relationship to help complete their picture of the reclusive former math professor who is now suspected of the Unabomber's 18 years of attacks, a law enforcement official said Thursday.

The firing followed a difficult breakup between Kaczynski and the woman, one source said.

But the breakup and dismissal came after the first Unabomber attack May 26, 1978 — elsewhere in the Chicago suburbs, according to the law enforcement official who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The Kaczynski family told the FBI earlier this year about the episode at a foam-cutting factory, and federal agents interviewed the woman involved, the official said.

Lafferty's conviction stands after retrial

PROVO — Ron Lafferty has again been convicted of capital homicide in the 1984 slashing slayings of his sister-in-law and her 15-month-old daughter.

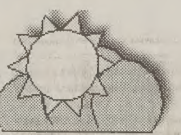

After five hours of deliberation Wednesday night, the 12-member jury convicted the self-proclaimed prophet of two counts first-degree murder, two counts of aggravated burglary and two counts of conspiracy to commit criminal homicide.

Those were the same counts on which he was convicted in 1985, resulting in a death sentence. A new trial was ordered after the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals ruled in 1991 that the trial judge made a mistake in determining Lafferty's competency.

Lafferty, 54, appeared in good spirits before the verdict, showed no emotion while it was read at 10:50 p.m. Wednesday, and whispered and smiled with his attorneys after the verdict.

Prosecuting and defense attorneys declined comment, saying they remained under a gag order not to discuss the case until the penalty phase is completed. The jury will determine whether the sentence will be execution or life imprisonment.

Scripture of the Day

"Now Alma said unto him: Believest thou that there is a God, and also deny the Christ? For behold, I say unto you, I know there is a God, and also that Christ shall come."

— Alma 30:39

Dwain Norris likes this scripture because "It points out that if we will think about our lives and all that is in the world around us, we will realize that we do have a Father in Heaven who cares for us and watches over us." Dwain is a freshman from Mesa, Ariz., majoring in mechanical engineering.

CRASH from page 1

The airplane had a double set of controls to allow Reid to take over in an emergency, and Reid took control as the plane went over the Rockies, a challenge for even experienced pilots.

"Over the Sierra it was just perfect, until we got over to the Rockies and they were bumpy, kind of bumpy," Jessica told San Francisco radio station KGO on Wednesday.

Officials did not speculate on the cause of the crash, but Arthur Alan Wolk, a Philadelphia aviation lawyer and pilot who used to own a Cessna 177B, said the airplane is underpowered and described it as a "lead sled." "Even on a good day, the plane is underpowered," he said.

The elevation of Cheyenne's airport, more than 6,100 feet, would contribute to power problems, Wolk said.

The bodies were still strapped into the plane when Police Chief John Powell arrived, the first on the scene. He said he couldn't tell who had been operating the plane. "There was a last-minute attempt by the pilot not to hit houses," Powell said.

Several years ago, the Guinness Book of Records ceased recognizing the "youngest pilot" category for fear of encouraging unsafe flights.

Jessica had less than a month to set the unofficial record.

Networking' with alumni Way to International Night

By HELENA HARO
Universe Staff Writer

Student Alumni Association is hosting an International Night to introduce international students to get to know each other and learn about regional differences of the BYU Alumni Association in their communities.

Watt, a senior from Provo, Idaho, majoring in dietetics and vice-president of the Student Alumni Association, said the International Night will inform students and allow them to get involved in regional chapters that BYU has established around the world.

Regional chapters bring BYU students together in local communities to provide social and service opportunities for the local alumni in the Asian and American countries," said Barrett, director of alumni

Other chapters will open up in South American cities including Mexico City, Santiago and Sao Paulo in a couple of weeks, Barrett said.

"Alumni associations are foreign to foreign countries. They are not set up there and we want those students to become familiar with this opportunity we have set up for them," Barrett said.

The chapters can help place students in jobs in their countries and they allow for good contacts and networking. The chapters do many service projects in the name of BYU and involve the whole communities, Barrett said.

The regional chapter in Taipei, Taiwan, offered an alumni lecture series that discussed major issues affecting the people of the area. They invited local officials and ministers of the community to talk about these issues, Barrett said.

International Night will supply a list of the alumni currently living in students' countries so they can contact them now and get involved. This also gives the Alumni Association a chance to catch up and update the lists, Barrett said.

"All international students are encouraged to attend and see how BYU can stay a part of their lives in their own countries," Barrett said.

International Night will be tonight at 5 in the Alumni House.

SEX OFFENSE

April 4, a 20-year-old female student was taunted by a 22-year-old male non-student yelling sexually explicit language from his car in the parking lot of the John Taylor Building. The student was able to get the license plate number of the suspect's vehicle.

TELEPHONE HARASSMENT

April 5 between 1:10 and 1:15 a.m., a 22-year-old male student at Deseret Towers received a call from a college-age male calling from the lobby phone in his hall. The caller spoke about saluting the flag and then gave the name of a gay club where he said he could "pick up some guys."

April 5 at 11:50 p.m., an 18-year-old female student received a call from an adult male caller with a raspy voice who whispered that he knew where she lived and that he wanted to kill her. The call originated from a motel in Provo.

Saturday beginning at 2:14 a.m., a male student at Helaman Halls received calls from a male identifying himself as an employee at the BYU Traffic Office and claiming that the student's roommate had six unpaid parking tickets. He or another caller then called back and said the student's roommate was dating the caller's girlfriend and if he did not stop dating her, he would beat him up.

BURGLARY

Between April 2 at 10 p.m. and April 3 at 8:36 a.m., one or more suspects broke into the Wyview Trailer Park Central Building through a window and unsuccessfully tried to break into a candy vending machine.

ASSAULT

Monday at 12:10 a.m., an 18-year-old male student was attacked by two male suspects as he was walking around Heritage Halls. The first suspect is described as a white male with dark hair who is between 5 feet 11 inches and 6 feet one inch tall, is 160 pounds and was wearing a dark T-shirt and jeans. The second suspect was a white male with light hair and was wearing a long T-shirt and a dark baseball cap.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT

April 4 at 4:18 p.m., a 30-year-old male visitor and 23-year-old male student became involved in a verbal confrontation during an intramural basketball game in the Richards Building. The student was struck in the face by the visitor when a third party tried to break up the argument.

April 4 between 7 and 9 p.m., a 25-year-old male student refereeing an intramural inner tube water polo game at the Richards Building received several vague threats from a 23-year-old male suspect.

April 5 at 8:37 p.m., a verbal confrontation took place between a 22-year-old male student who had been ejected from an intramural basketball game and two other males.

Saturday at 11:45 p.m., three male suspects urinated on the northeast side of the N. Eldon Tanner Building. The first suspect was described as a white male with brown hair, long sideburns and round dark glasses who was about 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighed 160 pounds. The second suspect was a white male who was approximately the same height and weight but had bleach blond hair. The third suspect was a white male with dark hair.

VANDALISM

Between April 2 at 11 p.m. and April 3 at 7 a.m., gang-related graffiti was found on a wall near the southeast corner of Cougar Stadium.

SUSPICIOUS INCIDENT

Monday at 5 p.m., a female resident of Wyview Trailer Park reported that an 18-year-old male visitor was selling magazines in a "rude and belligerent" manner and did not have a business license. There is no soliciting policy on campus.

FOUND PROPERTY

April 5, a television with the electronics removed and the shell smashed was found in a tree planter near the parking lot west of the Abraham O. Smoot Administration Building.

THEFT

Between April 2 at 10 p.m. and April 3 at 9 p.m., four cars at Wymount Terrace were broken into and two wallets were stolen from the vehicles.

April 3 between 8:45 a.m. and 9:50 a.m., 108 fluorescent lights valued at $180 were taken from the dock of the Monte L. Bean Life Science Museum.

April 4 between 7:30 and 10 p.m., two female students at Deseret

Towers left their dormitory room unlocked and a textbook and $10 in cash were taken.

April 5 between 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m., 23-year-old male student's textbook valued at $80 was taken from a computer lab in the Clyde Engineering Building.

Saturday at 5:32 p.m., a 13-year-old male visitor was questioned about jelly beans valued at $2.09 taken from the BYU Bookstore.

Spring Temple Square concert features 'member missionaries'

By JOANNE BUTTERFIELD
Universe Staff Writer

Over 400 "member missionaries" will present their annual spring concert Saturday, which will include a guest soloist performance by a BYU part-time faculty member.

These "member missionaries," better known as the Mormon Youth Chorus and Symphony, will perform at 8 p.m. in the Salt Lake Tabernacle on Temple Square.

"We're a missionary tool," Richard T. Watkins said. Watkins, a junior at BYU majoring in computer science, from American Fork, Utah, plays trombone in the symphony.

Watkins said being a member of the chorus or symphony is a calling. "It's one of the few callings in the church you can audition for," he said.

Participants are required to be members of the church in good standing, Watkins said.

Kate Stephens, staff assistant for the Mormon Youth Symphony and Chorus, said there are about 300 members of the chorus and 110 in the symphony. She said throughout the year these groups perform in local areas such as Provo, Ogden and Logan, Utah.

Music for the spring concert includes John Rutter's "Requiem." Margo Burdette, a part-time faculty member at BYU, will be the guest soloist, Stephens said.

Burdette has appeared in opera performances throughout the United States. She is a winner of the national Metropolitan Opera Auditions and has performed with opera companies such as the Utah Opera Company, Mississippi Opera Company and the University of Arizona Opera Theatre.

The performance will also include "Evening Song" from the production Hansel and Gretel, Stephens said. She said the soloists will be Heather Bingham, soprano soloist and Tamie Hunt, mezzo soprano soloist.

Bingham is a music student of Burdette.

The Mormon Youth Chorus and Symphony is under the direction of music director Robert C. Bowden and president G. Robert Ruff.

Admission to the concert is free, but is limited to those 8 years of age and older.

OPEN LETTER TO BYU STUDENTS

Dear Students,

As many of you already know, The Edge Dance Club is under new ownership and management. We are now called Club Omni, and we hope to earn your business by providing you with the kind of Dance Club that you will want to patronize. We feel that the Edge lost sight of its mission by trying to be all things to all people. As a result, the environment deteriorated, and you stopped coming. We want you back. We realize that we will have to work extra hard to earn your respect and patronage. As a start, we hope you will accept our apologies for not paying closer attention to your wants in the first place. In the future, we pledge the following.

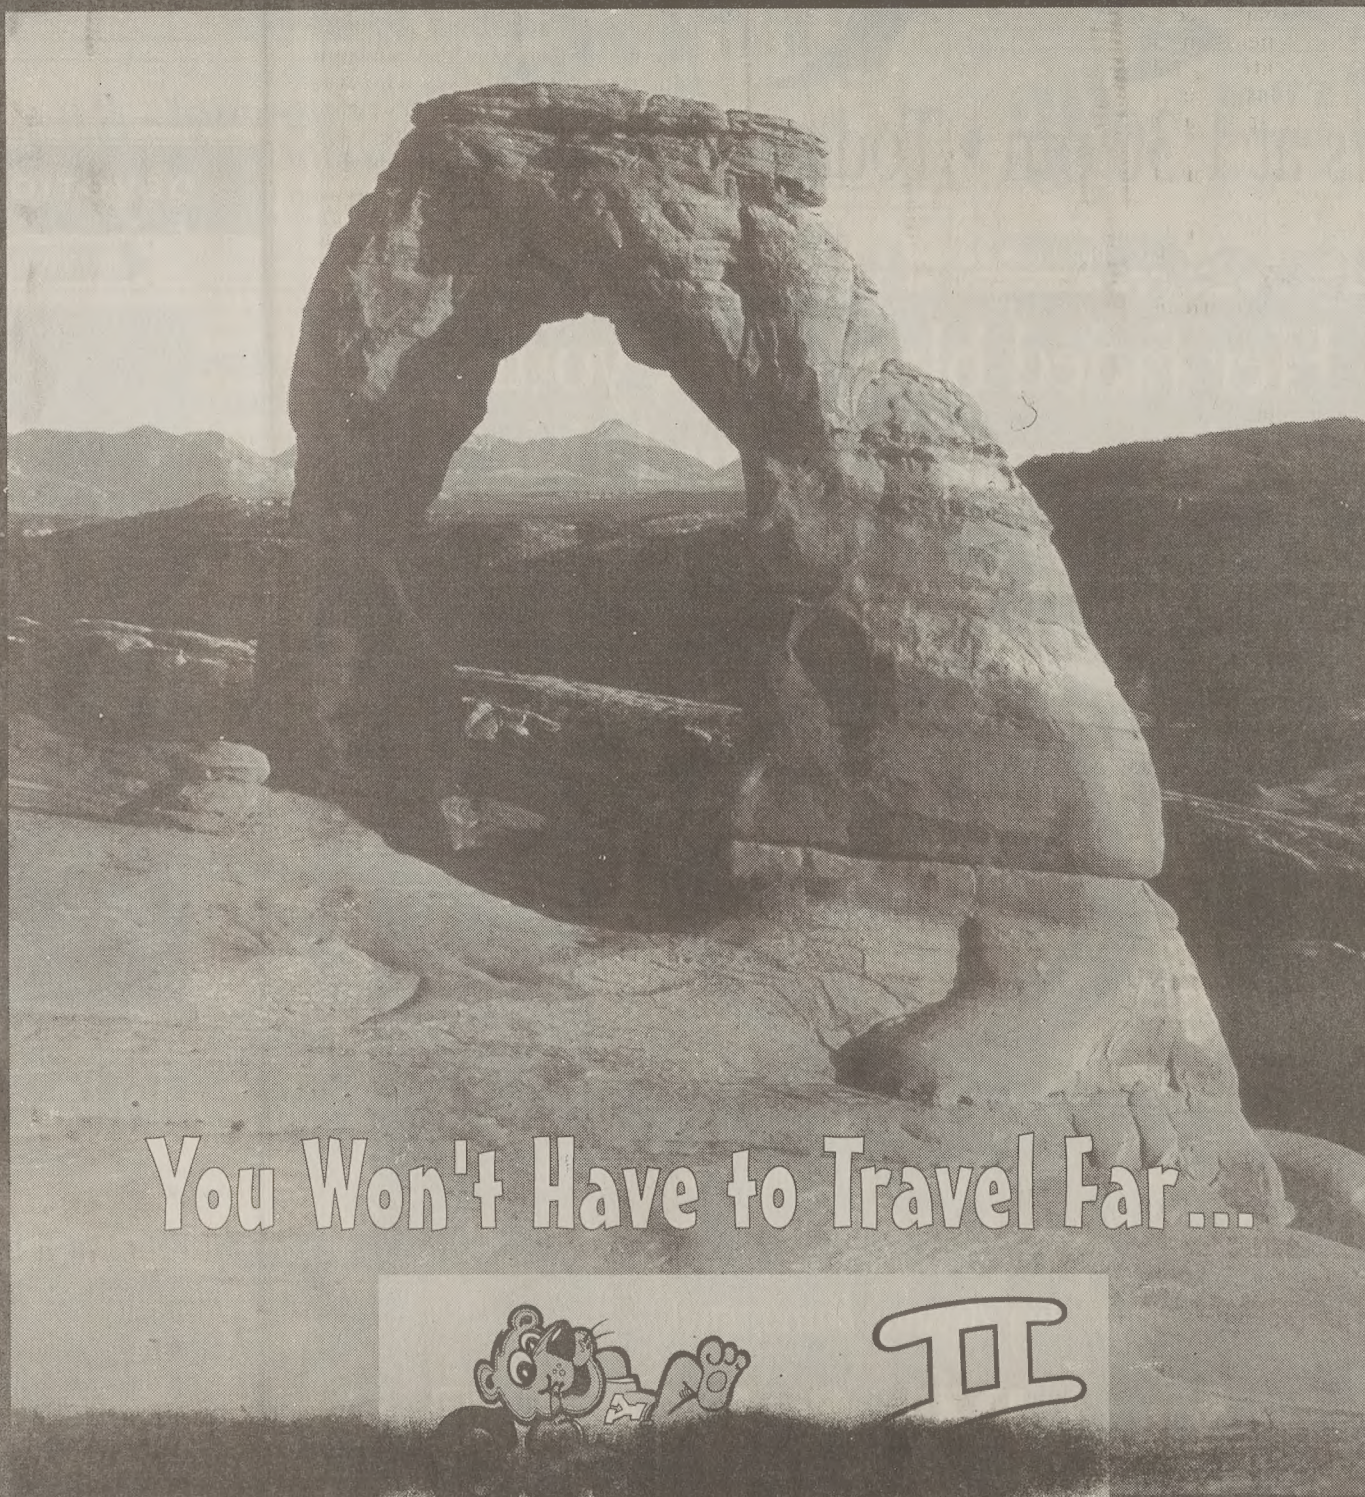

- 1) Club Omni will recognize that we are located in Provo, Utah, not Los Angeles, New York, or anywhere else.
- 2) Club Omni will operate its business with BYU and Provo, UT standards and values clearly in focus.
- 3) Club Omni will be maintained in a clean and neat condition at all times.
- 4) No one under 18 will ever be admitted to Club Omni.
- 5) Fights won't be tolerated. Offenders will be prosecuted and barred from Club Omni for life.
- 6) No lewd dancing, offensive music, inappropriate attire or profanity will be tolerated at Club Omni.
- 7) Alcohol and tobacco are strictly prohibited at Club Omni.

We will listen when you speak. If you have comments, suggestions or complaints, you may call me personally. If I am not available, leave your name and phone number. I promise to personally return every call as soon as possible. I can be reached at 375-0011.

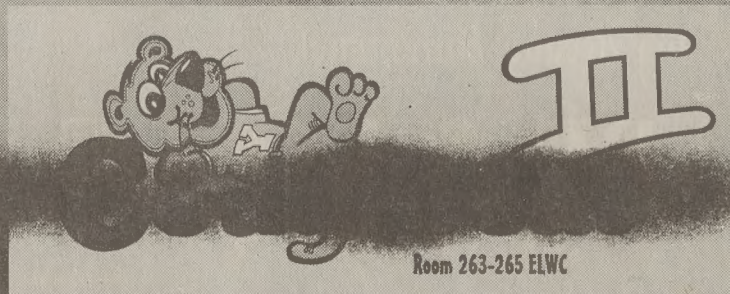

As you head into final exams, the management of Club Omni wishes you of you the best. We hope that graduating seniors all find rewarding careers in their chosen fields. For those underclassmen that will return in the fall, we wish you happy summer vacations. If you plan to be in Provo over the summer, Club Omni will maintain our usual schedule of your dancing enjoyment. May God bless you all.

Sincerely,

Ken Merena,

Student art show draws stiff competition

by JOANNA KASPER
Universe Staff Writer

Annual student art show, which opened this morning through April 26, opened this morning with cash awards given to many students with exhibits in the gallery.

Additionally, this is the main event of the year for art students. The art show is a valuable component to the students' education, said Marcus Vincent, gallery director.

He said the competition is as international as possible. The students exhibit their works in the same manner as professional competition. They pay entry fees, which are contributed to the cash prizes, and frame their works," Vincent said.

This year is different from other years because, since the art and design departments merged, both the art and design students could compete. Many students were concerned with the fact there is less room in the show for students, making it harder to exhibit.

said Mandi Mauldin, a junior majoring in sculpture, whose work is in the gallery.

He said the show will become more difficult to get into, Vincent said. There were about 180 art students who submitted works, and about 100 students, but the competition is increasing.

For this year's choice awards, this year's $735, were awarded to John Kara Losen, and Chris Smith. He said a piece, you look for originality, creativity, excellence, impact, and generally how a piece pulls together.

To be objective, you have to judge every piece individually, and at this time," said Gary E. Smith, student painter and juror for this competition. "I have to give to every piece. Overall, I will go through the gallery examining pieces more than ten times, and then go back and look at pieces that have stuck me."

"There are some really great pieces in here; they are very diversified. That is something that says a lot about the faculty and their ability to draw the best out of the students. Their teachers inspire them to jump into their own area," Smith said.

Among those who received awards were Shelly Mendenhall who won the Jeffery Alan Demery Award, for best all around in creativity, Christopher Graves who won the John B. Fairbanks Award, for the best oil painting, and Kortex Jex who won the LaVera Hutchings Award, for best watercolor. Design awards went to James Ransom, for best photography, and Hala Wittwer for best illustration. The gallery, F303 HFAC, is open Monday through Friday, 9 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Combined Y groups perform American folk music concerts

by JUANNE BUTTERFIELD
Universe Staff Writer

BYU's performing groups will come together to present two consecutive weekend which include a combination of four American folk music ensembles arranged by BYU professor of music, Jack Wilberg.

The BYU Philharmonic Orchestra, J Singers, Concert Choir, and Men's Chorus and Women's Chorus will perform tonight at 8 p.m. in the Tabernacle on Temple Square, and Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the de la Cruz Concert Hall.

The ensembles will celebrate Utah's centennial by presenting pieces from the history of American music.

John Rytting, director of The Philharmonic, said concerts such as this are becoming a tradition. He said that students will be performing

He said one of the major pieces the Philharmonic will perform is "The Lord's Transfiguration," by Franz Strauss. He said this piece of music is an unusually spiritually and glorious, spiritual, profound piece of music," Rytting said.

The concert will also include a performance of four American folk songs previously performed on the annual Thanksgiving of American Music, Rytting said.

He said PBS has also commissioned UYU to do another video. He said the videos are an outgrowth of the concerts such as these.

Westover, a senior majoring in education, from Salem, Ore., said the ensembles will also be performing a piece entitled "The Spirit of Freedom," by Randall

He said a member of the Men's Chorus said the words are taken from a letter from Thomas Jefferson to John Adams.

"The piece is going to be really impressive with everyone together," Westover said.

Elena Higbee, a sophomore majoring in dietetics, from Fairfax, Va., said one of her favorite parts of performing with these ensembles is the massive amounts of sound groups of this size can produce.

Higbee has been a member of Women's Chorus for two years.

"I like meeting daily to sing with such a talented group of people," Higbee said.

Admission is free to the concert in the Tabernacle in Salt Lake City.

Tickets are still available for the concert in the de la Cruz Concert Hall. Tickets prices are $6 for students, faculty and staff, $7 for senior citizens and $8 for the general public.

Tickets can be obtained through the Fine Arts Ticket Office. Call 378-4322 for ticket information.

Cougars crush baseball, Utes in matinee mauling

By PETER CHRISTENSEN
Universe Sports Writer

As the old saying goes, you can throw stats out the window when it comes to sports rivalries. Not Thursday at Cougar Field.

The BYU baseball team used arch-rival Utah for batting practice Thursday afternoon, scalping four Ute pitchers for 23 hits and seven home runs as it cruised to its eleventh consecutive victory, 23-5.

Like most of BYU's games the last two weeks, this one was over almost before it began. Third baseman Ryan Roberts led off the game for the Cougars with his fifteenth home run of the season, and Brad Winget belted an Ed Markey pitch onto 450 East two outs later to set the tone for the rest of the game.

"We got beat in every phase of the game today," Utah head coach Bill Kinneberg said. "It got out of hand early and we never recovered."

That the game got out of hand early is an understatement. The Cougars sent 16 batters to the plate and scored 12 runs on 10 hits in a third-inning barrage that sealed the Utes' fate.

Matt Stringham led off the inning with his third home run, a shot to left-center field. Beginning with Winget's second home run of the game with one out in the inning, nine consecutive batters reached base and also scored, culminating with a two-run blast by Tyson Dowdell.

The rest, as they say, is history. BYU scored one run in the fourth, two in the fifth, and two in the sixth before Jason Woolley rubbed it in with a grand slam in the Cougars' last at-bat in the eighth.

"Everything went our way today," BYU head coach Gary Pullins said. "You have to get breaks to win like that. Every ball dropped, every ball had eyes."

Offense wasn't the only story, however, as the defense was errorless once again. And starter Scott Haws allowed only three hits in seven innings to win his sixth game of the year, despite a strong head wind.

"It's not a mystery that you have to keep the ball down and throw the breaking ball for a strike in this ballpark," Kinneberg said. "Haws did that, we didn't."

Kinneberg and the Utes will try their luck again today and Saturday. Both games begin at 1 p.m.

The probable pitching rotations are Eric Boyer (3-2, 6.05) and Tom Gatten (1-2, 5.18) for BYU and Doug Dent (3-4, 6.49) and Mike Sagas (0-2, 6.85) for Utah.

Grant suspended for fight

Associated Press

NEW YORK — Orlando forward Horace Grant was suspended for one game without pay and fined $5,000 on Thursday for hitting Cleveland's Danny Ferry in the face during the Magic's 116-104 win Wednesday.

Grant was ejected after he and Ferry became entangled under the Magic basket. They appeared to push one another before Grant shoved Ferry hard in the neck and face.

Both were assessed technicals.

"He was doing stuff out there all night long," Grant said after the game, noting that he had asked one of the officials to watch for Ferry "pushing, shoving, throwing forearms."

The suspension means Grant will miss Orlando's game Friday night at home against Indiana.

"Everything happened so quick, I couldn't give a good explanation of what happened after we got tangled up," Ferry said.

BYU lacrosse outlasts Utah 'all-star' team

By JARED CAPSON
Universe Sports Writer

BYU's men's lacrosse team pulled out a 10-6 victory over an Alta Club team Thursday night that included former high school and college lacrosse players, and a high school lacrosse player from Orem.

The Alta Club didn't bring its regular team to Provo, but instead fielded a team of "all-stars," BYU co-captain Rodman Likes said.

One of Alta Club's players, Pete Stevenson, a 17-year-old Orem High School lacrosse player, said he was recruited Thursday afternoon to play against BYU Thursday night.

"We played Alta High School earlier today and beat them 7-4," Stevenson said. "An Alta Club player asked me at the game if I wanted to come tonight and play for them."

With the players it had assembled, the Alta Club gave the Cougars more than they expected, BYU sophomore goalie Mike Nelson said.

"They had a really good team today and they kind of surprised us," he said.

Last time the Alta Club played BYU they came with 12 players, but this time they had 24, BYU head coach Jason Lamb said.

"This team versus the Alta team we played last time was double the talent and number of players," Lamb said.

Three BYU players accounted for seven of the Cougars' 10 goals. Likes netted three goals, freshman Scott Winterton had two goals and sophomore Clint Felsted added two goals.

Lamb, who was penalized for arguing with the officials, said he was disappointed with many of their calls.

"I'm not really thrilled about the officiating tonight," Lamb said following the game. "They expect a lot from us, and when they don't perform, I'm going to make sure they know it."

Lamb said bad penalty calls affected his players' performance, but even taking poor officiating into account, BYU still played below expectations.

"Yes, we won, but I'm not really thrilled about some of the things we did," Lamb said. "Against a better team we wouldn't have done well."

On Saturday the Cougars face what could be a better team in the University of New Mexico. The contest is scheduled for 7 p.m. on BYU's Haws Field and admission is free.

Van Horn decides to be true to school

Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY — Keeping a pledge to his late father, Utah basketball star Keith Van Horn on Thursday ruled out forgoing his senior year to enter the National Basketball Association draft.

"If he were alive today, he would have been happy with the decision made today," Van Horn said of his father, Ken, who died during his freshman year at Utah.

Murphy counsels students to have a selective memory

By BRIAN ANDERSON
Universe Sports Writer

DALE MURPHY

erred his prepared message. He stopped early, however, and allowed for a question/answer session in which several students asked questions ranging from the Hall of Fame to politics.

Murphy said that when he started baseball, his goal was not to reach the Hall of Fame, and he didn't know what to think about it, although he had thought about it before.

One student wanted Murphy to run for the President of the United States.

"This is not a political meeting, so I cannot announce my candidacy (for the President of the United States)," Murphy said jokingly. "No, I don't have any thoughts about any political office."

Y golfers place 4th

By ANDREA DAHL
Universe Staff Writer

One disappointing round resulted in a fourth place finish for the BYU women's golf team at the Dixie Classic on April 8-9.

"We didn't play well our second round," coach Gary Howard said.

The Cougars hosted the 17 school tournament in St. George, which included six other WAC schools. New Mexico won the meet with a final score of 926, Oregon State came in second (930), Iowa State followed in third (931) and BYU's total score of 937 finished fourth.

"We wanted to win, but the same thing crept up on us again," golfer Stephanie Belnap said. "We knocked ourselves out of it with a bad round."

The team had been struggling with consistency through out the season, but seemed to have overcome it during its last meet in Hawaii.

"Oregon and Ohio came up on us, that just happens when they play better," Belnap said.

The reason for the disappointing round could have been a result of not having enough time to practice after their meet in Hawaii.

"It usually takes us a week and a half to get started again," Howard said. The team had less than a week to practice before the competition in St. George.

Another reason for the high round was that it was a 36-hole day. Despite aerobic workouts, the girls were all tired, Belnap said.

Howard said that the women just didn't drink enough water.

"We can say that there are so many reasons, but it comes down to that our consistency needs more consistency," Belnap said.

The WAC championship is coming up in a week and a half, and so are finals.

It is tough on the women preparing for both their finals and the championships, Howard said.

"It is a Herculean task."

The women are not discouraged from the result of the meet, in fact they are more determined than ever to win the WAC.

BYU expects the New Mexico Lobos to be its toughest competitors for the WAC title, Belnap said.

"They have won WAC the last three years — now it is our turn," she said.

The WAC Championships will be held in San Diego, Calif., on April 22-24.

Track teams to host invitational

By JODI ORGILL
Universe Sports Writer

By ANDREA DAHL
Universe Sports Writer

The Cougar men's track team will have the home field advantage this weekend as BYU hosts the Cougar Invitational Friday and Saturday with as many as eight schools competing for top spots.

The men are anxious to get back on their own track and field to compete, feeling more prepared when they use BYU's facilities, assistant coach Mark Robison said.

"BYU has some of the top facilities in the nation," Robison said. "This gives our athletes the advantage over other teams coming to compete on foreign ground."

The team always enjoys performing at home, competing for friends and spectators that support BYU, team member Craig Lawson said.

The Cougar men have set specific goals for this meet, not necessarily to win every event, but to improve on individual and team performances.

"We have done fairly well throughout the season, but we haven't had any real breakthrough performances," Robison said. "We are hoping to have some people move up on the WAC list and qualify for nationals at this meet."

Members of the team are also hoping this meet will provide an opportunity to improve personal records and best scores, Lawson said.

With all the goals in mind, the only thing that could prevent the athletes from performing well is the weather.

"It doesn't seem to matter when we schedule the invitational, weather always seems to be a challenge for us," Robison said.

If the weather holds up, the Cougar long distance runners are hoping to use this meet to prepare for the Mt. Sac meet next week, one of the biggest meets of the season for runners, Lawson said.

Today and Saturday BYU's women's track team will host The Cougar Invitational in its first home meet of the outdoor season.

Athletes from Montana State-Bozeman, Southern Utah University, the University of Utah, Utah Valley State College, the University of Arkansas-Fayetteville, Weber State, Adams State College, Boise State and Idaho State will compete in the meet which will begin at 1:30 p.m., today at Cougar Stadium.

"We've been working really hard," Sarah Arrowsmith said. "We're looking forward to making a good impression at home. Everyone is excited to come out and do good."

Coach Craig Poole expects to have a good meet. "It will be a good opportunity to show what the athletes can do," he said.

Weather is a concern for the team as the home opener has been rained on the last few years. The team hopes this tradition ends this year. If the weather is good, Poole expects to see some good scores.

"We hope the weather is good," he said.

Home meets hold an advantage for many BYU athletes. Arrowsmith said one advantage is that the athletes are more familiar with the track, which makes her feel more comfortable.

Another home advantage is the support from friends and family watching in the stands.

"I think that it is better with lots of people watching," Arrowsmith said. "With more people your adrenaline gets pumping."

The 6-foot-9, 238-pound second-team All-American led the Utes to a Sweet 16 finish in this year's NCAA tournament.

Utah, which fell to eventual champion Kentucky, likely will be favored to win its third straight Western Athletic Conference championship with Van Horn returning.

"We have a better chance of being a better team next year. I don't think this team next year will be just satisfied with reaching the Sweet 16," Van Horn said.

"I've really felt strong about this decision," he said. "I came here to get an education and a degree and not just to play basketball."

Van Horn has a career scoring average of 20.4 points and 8.6 rebounds per game at Utah, including 21.4 points and 8.9 rebounds in the Utes' 27-7 campaign this season.

The WAC Player of the Year for a second straight season, Van Horn also was named to the league's first team by both coaches and sportswriters for the third year in a row.

Israel attacks command center of guerrillas

Associated Press

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Israeli aircraft fired rockets across Lebanon on Thursday, targeting the command center of Hezbollah guerrillas in Beirut and bombarding cars suspected of carrying the guerrillas' commanders.

It was the first time since the 1982 invasion that Israeli forces have attacked the Lebanese capital.

The airstrikes were in retaliation for Hezbollah attacks on Israeli soldiers in southern Lebanon and rocket assaults on northern Israel that killed one soldier and wounded 38 other Israelis this week.

But with Israeli elections just weeks away and recent suicide bombings deep inside Israel still fresh in Israelis' minds, the nine hours of strikes went far beyond the usual reprisal.

Casualty and damage reports were conflicting, with four or five people reported killed and about a dozen wounded.

Speaking not long after the airstrikes, Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres refused to rule out further attacks on the Shiite Muslim guerrilla group.

"We are not trigger-happy, (but) if someone prefers a confrontation to a dialogue we have the ability to confront them," he said.

Ahmed Younis, a 35-year-old aide to a Hezbollah commander in the south, was seriously wounded when his car was gutted by a helicopter missile on the highway near the southern port of Sidon.

The commander was not in the vehicle, Lebanese security sources said. A 27-year-old woman passenger was killed and two other civilians were wounded at an adjacent highway rest stop in the fishing harbor of Jiye. A third civilian was wounded when a missile hit a car at Dirdghaya, near the southern port of Tyre, the sources said.

Israeli fighter-bombers also attacked bases of the Iranian-backed Hezbollah in eastern and southern Lebanon. Hezbollah's top commander in southern Lebanon, Sheik Nabil Kaouk, swore to "burn (the Israelis) with their fire and blow up the ground under their feet."

Thousands of Israelis fled the border town of Kiryat Shemona, where 36 people were wounded by Katyusha attacks on Tuesday, to safety in central Israel.

The army ordered all children under the age of 16 to be evacuated from the north.

In a joint news conference with Peres, Israel's army commanders described why they selected certain structures as air raid targets.

A 10-story building in a densely populated southern suburb of Beirut served as Hezbollah's command center from which attacks on Israel were being planned, said Maj. Gen. Moshe Ayalon, head of military intelligence.

Helicopter gunships fired three missiles into three windows of a first-floor office in the building, which also housed Hezbollah leaders and their families, said the air force commander, Maj. Gen. Herzl Bodinger.

Two buildings in south Lebanon that served as residences for Hezbollah fighters were destroyed also — but were likely evacuated before the attack; and an attack on what Israel said was a "major Hezbollah logistics center" but the guerrilla group claimed was only a garbage dump in the Bekaa Valley.

Looting frenzy rages in Liberia; U.S. troops sent

Associated Press

MONROVIA, Liberia — Mobs broke down the gates at the U.N. headquarters and looters jumped the walls of the U.S. Embassy compound on Thursday, as even African peacekeepers reportedly joined in the widespread plunder of Liberia's warring capital.

Relief workers warned that a dangerous scarcity of food, medicine and fuel, compounded by a fifth straight day of fighting in Liberia's capital, will worsen matters for a population already among the poorest in West Africa.

"The fighting and ongoing massive looting of homes, market and shops has sparked off widespread food shortages for civilians in the city," said Tarek El Guindi, director of the U.N. World Food Program in Liberia. "A serious humanitarian crisis is likely to erupt if fighting continues."

"Lord, please help us out of this madness — your children are dying," said Maima Jones of Monrovia.

Dozens of dead bodies, mostly those of young men, lay by the roadside in downtown Monrovia amid burned-out vehicles and shops that have been looted since the worst fighting in three years broke out Saturday between rebels and government troops. West African peacekeepers were reported to have engaged in "very heavy" looting in Monrovia, virtually paralyzing the U.N. food distribution system that feeds about 1.5 million people throughout Liberia.

U.N. spokesman Sylvana Foa said communications with the U.N. headquarters in Monrovia were cut after mobs stormed the gates Thursday morning. She said all staff members were reported safe and holed up at the U.S. Embassy compound.

A senior defense official speaking from Washington said that as a result of the unrest, the number of U.S. military personnel involved in an evacuation mission had been increased from 600 to 900.

Foa said reports from the U.N. mission in Liberia spoke of a "frenzy of looting" and that it appeared leaders of the warring factions had lost control of their own fighters.

Defense Secretary William Perry told reporters at a Pentagon news conference that the evacuation of U.S. citizens was going smoothly despite the chaos. As a result of the crisis — the third to result in U.S. evacuations from Monrovia since 1990 — three U.S. amphibious ships carrying roughly 700 U.S. Marines were ordered to Liberia.

Western States and suburban areas. We don't have a lot of urban students here. We don't have a lot of minority students. Those people are more likely to be Democrats."

Kristen Winmill, president of the College Democrats, believes the Republican Congress has hurt, not helped, the Republican presidential candidates.

"The Republicans have been in Congress, so the students have seen what the Republican Party would do if it was in full power," Winmill said.

The statistics team found a correlation between gender and political views.

"Females tended to affiliate with the Democrats and other parties more than males," the statistics political opinion survey team wrote in their conclusion.

Less than 6 percent of the 693 respondents side with the Democrats, so the gender findings were not conclusive. However, those familiar with the issues agree with the gender separation.

"That doesn't surprise me," Smith said. "The Democratic movement has been more kind to females. Women are grateful for the women's movement which was largely done by Democrats."

Davis believes this trend is not just at BYU. "The gender gap is national — women are more likely to see themselves as Democrats," he said. "If you break it down, single women parents are even more likely to see themselves as Democrats. They see the Republicans as being on the wrong side of abortion and promoting family values can be seen as being against single women."

Two-thirds of the 693 students surveyed said they make a conscious effort to be informed on political issues, although students on average believe they only have a fair amount of influence on government.

"The apathy comes because they don't think they can do anything about government, so they turn to other things," Smith said.

With 48.2 percent, the most important factor influencing political ideology for BYU students was the party's stand on the issues. Family and friends was the second leading factor, with 35.6 percent. Religion was the third most popular factor, with 13.4 percent. Those who cited religion as their basis for party selection affiliated themselves with both the Republican and Democratic Parties.

Forty-two percent of students get most of their information about politics from television, while 30.8 percent read newspapers to become politically informed. Word of mouth was the third most influential medium, with 13 percent.

Museum adds art finesse to Utah County

By HEATHER LARSEN
Universe Staff Writer

A prestigious art museum in Utah County is like a temple in Las Vegas — they both seem a little out of place.

However, the Springville Art Museum holds its own as an institution that promotes Utah artists as well as displaying internationally renowned collections.

The Springville Art Museum was founded in 1903 and is the oldest art museum in Utah.

The museum is now host to the Spring Salon — the most prestigious annual art exhibition in Utah. The exhibit will feature 224 works of art by 214 living artists. The works were selected from 819 entries.

"It is not an easy show for artists to be accepted in," said Vern Swanson, director of the museum. "(The art) runs the gamut of traditional to modern to visionary."

Swanson said the Spring Salon is named after the salon shows in Europe. The museum owns a large art collection as well as featured works on long-term loans.

One unique collection consists of Soviet Socialist realist paintings.

The Springville show reflects the depth and quality of Soviet realism and helps show the way to greatness for our young Utah artists, Swanson said.

Despite its prestige, many people are not aware of the museum's existence.

"It's been disappointing to find that 85 percent of BYU students have never heard of the museum," said Sharon Gray, associate director and curator of education at the museum.

Gray added that BYU art students are an exception to the rule in that they are very aware of the museum.

Swanson said the museum's purpose is to help Utah artists. "Even when we're not doing Utah art, we're doing it to encourage Utah art," he said.

Because the new museum has grown so much, a new wing will be constructed. The Centennial wing will give more room for art that has been in storage. It will also allow the museum to be handicap accessible as well as climate controlled, Gray said.

A third of the cost has already been raised for the new wing. The museum is having an Art Ball to raise more money. BYU is also getting involved in the activities. On Wednesday, the museum will host a BYU Night free of charge. The museum is open from Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Wednesday until 9 p.m. Sundays it is open from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m.
